Madam:

Applicants have received the Examiner's Statement of Reasons for Allowance issued on June 29, 2009 in connection with the above-identified application. In response, Applicants offer the following comments.

COMMENTS

The Examiner, in the Reasons for Allowance, offers a generic statement as to why the claims of the present invention are allowable over the prior art of record. Although Applicants agree that the prior art does not disclose or teach the features listed by the Examiner, Applicants wish to emphasize that it is the claims as a whole, including the various interrelationships and interconnections between the various claimed elements, which are not taught or suggested by the prior art. Further, Applicants submit that each claim should be considered separately as a whole as being allowable over the prior art of record.

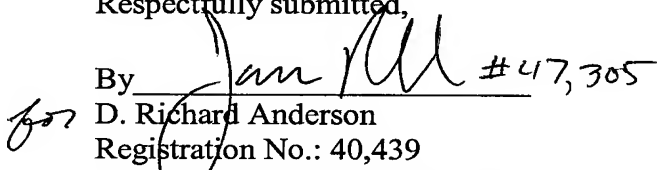

For instance, the Examiner has offered the same reasons for allowance for independent 9, 11, and 21, citing specifically to the language found in claim 11. However, Applicants note that there are differences in the particular language recited in claims 9, 11, and 21, which may or may not give rise to different interpretations. For example, claims 9 and 21 do not specifically recite a "storage section," nor do they recite displaying the visual notice by "changing a screen of the display device to exhibit the read display format." Thus, Applicants respectfully submit that each claim should be interpreted based on its specific language and other appropriate parameters, and additional limitations should not be imputed to any of the claims based on the Reasons for Allowance.

In conclusion, Applicants emphasize that each claim should be considered separately as a whole, taking into consideration the various interrelationships and interconnections between the various claim elements, and should be interpreted on its specific claim language and other appropriate parameters.
